

Barwon Health North takes shape in the northern suburbs

Dear resident,

People in Geelong's northern suburbs will soon have access to additional health services through the new $33 million Barwon Health North facility, which is starting to take shape.

Barwon Health North is on the former Waterworld site on the corner of Cox Road and Princes Highway, Norlane.

The facility will include urgent care services, child and family services, renal dialysis services as well as support services. The urgent care centre will operate after-hours and on weekends, and will not require an appointment.

Emergency patients with severe and life-threatening injuries and illnesses requiring immediate attention and specialist care will receive care at University Hospital Geelong's emergency department, while less severe but still urgent cases will be able to seek treatment at Barwon Health North's urgent care centre.

Construction will begin soon

The early works construction has been completed and the head construction contractor will commence construction activities in the coming weeks. Construction completion is scheduled for mid-2019 and the site is anticipated to be operational soon after.

We anticipate some construction impacts such as traffic, noise, vibration and dust. The contractor will operate weekdays between 7am and 6pm and on Saturday between 7am and 2pm only. We will do our best to minimise your inconvenience during this time.
